Association for the Study of Travel
in Egypt and the Near East

The Association for the Study of Travel in Egypt and the Near East, established in 1997, encourages and promotes education and research in the history of travel and travellers in Egypt and the Near East. ASTENE's sphere of interest ranges from ancient travellers such as Herodotus to those of the present day, and covers a region from Greece and the Ottoman Balkans eastward to Turkey and the Levant, Egypt, the Arabian Peninsula and the Mesopotamian region. Membership is open to interested persons of any nationality.

ASTENE acts as a focus for the collection and dissemination of information, materials and contacts by means of conferences, lectures, tours, a website and publications. The Association is keen to foster an international co-operative network of academics, private scholars and other parties interested in the history of travel.
